III. DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-10 and 21-30 are presented for examination.

Claims 11-20 and 31-35 were not elected on the Restriction-election requirement and Applicant is reminded that these claims have not been canceled and need to be canceled with Applicant's amendment.

Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1-2 and 21-22, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Stephen A. Tarin (US Pub. No.: 2001/0000536A1 and Tarin hereinafter).

Regarding Claims 1 and 21, Tarin teaches a computer apparatus and associated method for managing extended attribute data, said method comprising:

identifying a data area in a data space (i.e. space usage) [0011]; store attribute data (i.e. composed of a fixed number of "fields" (or "attributes") that contain specific content about the entity) [0003]; storing the attribute data (i.e. composed of a fixed number of "fields" (or "attributes") that contain specific content about the entity) [0003] in the identified data area (i.e. space. . pre-indexed data to maintain sortedness or a time intensive search involving multiple passes over the entirety of each attribute that is being joined.) [0288]; and marking (i.e. all attributes can be sorted, and union columns can eliminate the need to maintain redundant copies of data. . . functions can be implemented efficiently through the displacement table, various alternate displacement tables, bit maps and/or n-valued logic functions) [0289] one or more bits in a bitmap , bit maps and/or n-valued logic functions) [0289] corresponding to the data space (i.e. a tomb stoning flag such free is then available for use when the data in existing records is changed or new records are added. In unsorted columns that are "attached" as described) [0249], wherein the marked bits correspond to the identified data area [0083-0084].

Regarding Claims 2, and 22, Tarin teaches storing an extended attribute type, a size, and an offset in an extended attribute directory (i.e. by a record-type table structured database, in order to reconstruct the records in any of these orders, there is a space-time tradeoff. If the records are to be reproduced quickly, and in linear time, four separate indices are required, specifying the four different sort orders. To avoid this redundant use of space [0133] see also [0124-0134]; see also [0135-0141].

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 3-10 and 23-30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

Applicant's particular data space with inline page and one or more outline page in combination with the other limitations of the claims, was not disclosed by, would not have been obvious over, nor would have been fairly suggested by the prior art of record.

The dependent claims, being further limiting to the independent claims, definite and enabled by the Specification are also allowed.

The closest prior art, Tarin discloses space usage and/or speed of access, such that the rows no longer necessarily correspond to individual records by eliminating redundant values (which reduces memory usage) and sort-ordering the columns, ensuring that value groups will always appear in some particular. The closest prior art fails to anticipate or render Applicant's limitations above obvious.

Other Prior Art Made of Record

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to Applicant's disclosure.
